An around-the-world journey to discover where in the wild we can find the elements of life and the surprising ways they're essential to our survival We all know that we depend on elements for survival—from the oxygen in the air we breathe to the carbon in the molecular structures of all living things. But we don't often stop to appreciate how, say, phosphorous holds our DNA together or how potassium powers our optic nerves so that we can see. In The Elements We Live By, physicist and award-winning author Anja Røyne takes us on an astonishing journey through chemistry and physics, introducing the building blocks from which we humans—and the world—are made. Not only does Røyne explain why our bodies need iron, phosphorus, silicon, potassium, and many more elements in just the right amounts in order to function, she also leads us around the world to where these precious elements are found (some of them in ever-shrinking quantities). You'll understand how precariously balanced our lives—and ways of life—really are, and you'll see these unsung heroes of the periodic table in an entirely new light.

EARLY EDUCATION CURRICULUM: A CHILD'S CONNECTION TO THE WORLD focuses on the role of observation and assessment in early childhood programming, the process of planning and implementing a curriculum, setting up an inclusive child-centered environment, and the uses of evaluation and documentation for continuous program improvement. Updated with current research and standards, the text continues to present new material on brain research that underlies teaching ideas as well as information on reflective practice, intentional teaching, and using the environment as a teaching tool. The seventh edition includes more material on diversity and diversity strategies, activity plans for different age groups, and more floor plans. New case studies provide examples of how activities planned align with specific standards, and allow students to apply knowledge gained to real-life situations. The book retains its strong applied focus on the how-to's of teaching, with many hands-on teaching tips. Tiden er ute. I morgen tvangsinnføres biobrikken – både i Norge og resten av verden. Biobrikken, en databrikke som sprøytes inn i hånden og registrerer alt om deg - gener og helsetilstand, hva du spiser og drikker, hvor du til enhver tid befinner deg, hvem du omgås, hva du liker og ikke liker. Alt privatliv skal forsvinne. For alltid. Motstandsbevegelsen har nå forårsaket enorme skader og blottlagt horrible sannheter bak utviklingen av biobrikken. Men er det nok til å hindre makteliten i å gjennomføre tvangsinnføringen?

----- Sosiologiprofessoren og biobrikke-motstanderen June Nylund er alene, i et hav av demonstranter og usikre folk i Oslos gater. Både kroppen og psyken hennes er ødelagt etter bortførelser, kamp og flukt. Morderne kan være på vei til datteren og ektemannen i dette øyeblikk. Hun må hjem. Nå, før det er for sent. Etter å ha gjennomgått sitt livs verste mareritt, har ikke lenger bokseren og musikkprodusenten Jonas Bittman noe mer å tape. Han drar tilbake til motstandsbevegelsens hemmelige base for å hente sønnen sin, men finner kun kaos og død. Tvilte han før, er usikkerheten borte nå. Biobrikken må bekjempes. Om menneskehetens frihet skal ha en sjanse, må tvangsinnføringen hindres for enhver pris. «Biobrikken»-trilogien er brennaktuell nå som flere og flere mennesker lar seg chippe med små databrikker. En skremmende historie om en framtid som kan bli virkelighet. [Dystopisk tekno-thriller | Norsk Bokmål / Norwegian]

New York Times 100 Notable Books of 2018 • Amazon Editors' Top 100 of 2018 Rachel Cusk, the award-winning and critically acclaimed author of Outline and Transit, completes the transcendent literary trilogy with Kudos, a novel of unsettling power. A woman writer visits a Europe in flux, where questions of personal and political identity are rising to the surface and the trauma of change is opening up new possibilities of loss and renewal. Within the rituals of literary culture, Faye finds the human story in disarray amid differing attitudes toward the public performance of the creative persona. She begins to identify among the people she meets a tension between truth and representation, a fissure that accrues great dramatic force as Kudos reaches a profound and beautiful climax. In this conclusion to her groundbreaking trilogy, Cusk unflinchingly explores the nature of family and art, justice and love, and the ultimate value of suffering. She is without question one of our most important living writers.

Noen kjenner mitt navn er en storslagen historisk roman som spenner over tre kontinenter og to århundrer. Men denne prisbelønte boken er fremfor alt en hjerteskjærende beretning om livet til Aminata Diallo, en elleve år gammel jente som blir bortført fra sin landsby i Vest-Afrika og tvunget ombord i et slaveskip med kurs for South Carolina. Etter å ha jobbet på en indigoplantasje i mange år, blir hun videresolgt, men klarer å flykte fra sin eier i New York, der hun havner midt i den amerikanske uavhengighetskrigen mot britene. Mange dramatiske begivenheter senere befinner hun seg nok en gang ombord i en seilskute på Atlanterhavet. Men nå er hun fri og på vei bort fra et land hun helst vil glemme, med kurs for et hjemland som ikke lenger finnes. Lawrence Hill har med Noen kjenner mitt navn skapt et levende og troverdig bilde av slaveriets grenseløse ondskap og menneskets ukuelige livskraft. Boken er blitt hyllet av et samstemt internasjonalt kritikerkorps, og har innbrakt forfatteren The Commonwealth Writers’ Prize, som deles ut til den beste boken skrevet på engelsk i et av Samveldets 53 land. LAWRENCE HILL, kanadisk forfatter og journalist, er sønn av en svart far og en hvit mor. Norsk barnelitteraturhistorie

Set in the Norwegian countryside over the course of one summer, The Birds tells the story of forty-year-old Mattis, who has mental disabilities and lives in a small house near a lake with his sister Hege, who ekes out a modest living knitting sweaters. From time to time Hege encourages her brother to find work to ease their financial burdens, but Mattis's attempts to work at the surrounding farms always end in failure and disgrace. Mattis is keenly aware of the distance between himself and the world around him, which often feels hostile; the villagers call him Simple Simon. Profoundly sensitive to his surroundings, Mattis spends much of his time in the forest, reading its signs and symbols: A woodcock begins a daily flight over their house, a beautiful bird is waiting for him on the path one day when he returns from the store, and one afternoon lightning strikes one of the two withered aspen trees outside the house -- trees known in the village as "Mattis-and-Hege."

When Mattis decides to employ himself as a ferryman, the only passenger he manages to bring across the lake is a lumberjack, Jørgen. When Jørgen and Hege become lovers, Mattis finds he cannot adjust to this new situation. Wholly reliant on Hege and terrified of losing her, he clings to the familiar and does everything in his power to make Jørgen leave. Simultaneously, he struggles to find a place for himself in a world that does not seem to want him. With spare simplicity, Vesaas's straightforward prose subtly reveals Mattis's perspective and readers will find themselves shifting irrevocably from observers of his experience to participants in it. Written by one of Norway's most celebrated and beloved authors, The Birds is a deeply nuanced examination of identity and responsibility, with abundant narrative suspense and hauntingly beautiful writing besides.

"The Open Boat" is a short story by American author Stephen Crane. First published in 1897, it was based on Crane's experience of surviving a shipwreck off the coast of Florida earlier that year while traveling to Cuba to work as a newspaper correspondent. Crane was stranded at sea for thirty hours when his ship sank after hitting a sandbar. He and three other men were forced to navigate their way to shore in a small boat. Crane's personal account of the shipwreck and the men's survival, titled "Stephen Crane's Own Story", was first published a few days after his rescue. Stephen Crane (1871-1900) was an American novelist, short-story writer, and poet who is often called the first modern American writer. Crane was a correspondent in the Greek-Turkish War and the Spanish American War, penning numerous articles, war reports and sketches. In addition to six novels, Crane wrote over a hundred short stories including "The Blue Hotel," "The Bride Comes to Yellow Sky," and "The Open Boat."

Her fortelles historien om de fire viktigste fiskeartene og den eventyrlige rikdommen havet har gitt oss. Vi har verdens nest lengste kyst, noen av verdens største fiskebestander og kontroll over sjøområder syv ganger større enn det norske fastlandet. I tusen år før vi fant olje levde vi av fiskeeksport. Men flere ganger har vi stått i fare for å ødelegge for våre viktigste arter: sild, torsk og laks. Norge er i dag en av verdens største eksportører av sjømat, og vi kan bli enda større. Men da må vi ha kunnskap om havet og politikken må utformes slik at vi forvalter ressursene våre på en bærekraftig måte. Henning Røed (f. 1955) er marinbiolog og har jobbet i over 30 år med hav, fisk, fiskeoppdrett, klima og miljø.

The Elements We Live By

Denne boken handler om norske kvinner og menn som under 2. verdenskrig i større eller mindre grad samarbeidet med den tyske okkupasjonsmakten i Norge. Hvorfor valgte titusener å samarbeide i stedet for å være passive eller gjøre motstand? Det dreier seg om alt fra administrativt til politisk og økonomisk samarbeid. I noen norske familier er fremdeles spørsmålet om hva bestefar gjorde under krigen et tabubelagt tema. Nina Drolsum Kroglund er historiker og forfatter. Hun har tidligere utgitt bøkene For et fritt Afrika. Fellesrådet for Afrika 1967-2000 (1999), Utdanning for frigjøring, SAIH i 40 år (2001) Ute en vinternatt - Røde kors hjelpekorps i aksjon gjennom 75 år (2007) og Vann - kilde til konflikt eller samarbeid?
